why I use MacBook

It's not just a laptop.
It's my everyday advantage.

● It just works.
No crashes. No freezes.
I open it and get things done.

● Battery life
I can trust.
All-day power that keeps up with my day.

● It stays fast,
for years.
Built to last.
Less slowdown,
more longevity.

● Everything
connects.
iPhone, AirPods, iCloud. It just makes life easier.

● It looks nice.
The least important
reason, but yes,
it's a bonus.

XXVIII®

BUILT TO EMPOWER.
DESIGNED TO LAST.

Summary

A minimalist infographic titled 'why I use MacBook' that breaks down the user's reasons for choosing the device. It features a large, abstract pie chart on the left and a corresponding list of benefits on the right, emphasizing reliability, battery life, longevity, ecosystem connectivity, and aesthetics.

What Works

✔ Clean, minimalist aesthetic with ample whitespace

✔ Strong typographic hierarchy

✔ Neutral, professional color palette

✔ Clear separation between visual element and text list

✔ Modern, sans-serif font choice

What To Improve

⚠ Add percentage labels or data values to the pie chart slices

⚠ Increase contrast for the smaller body text against the light background

⚠ Clarify the 'XXVIII' branding or logo at the bottom

⚠ Add a distinct Call to Action (CTA) button or link

⚠ Use more distinct colors in the pie chart for better accessibility

⚠ Ensure the 'It looks nice' section has sufficient contrast

⚠ Consider adding a subtle texture or background element to reduce flatness

Limitations

- △ The pie chart lacks specific data or percentages, making the proportions ambiguous.
- △ The 'XXVIII' branding is unclear and lacks context.
- △ The color palette relies on subtle shades of grey/beige which may be indistinguishable for colorblind users.
- △ There is no explicit Call to Action for the viewer.
